BUSINESS REMAINS STRONG FOR GREENPOINT TECHNOLOGIES

October 10, 2008

Kirkland, WA

Despite current market conditions, Greenpoint Technologies (GTI) remains industrious as the demand for government and VIP completions continues in the global economy.

In addition to delivering their fifteenth (15th) BBJ fourth quarter this year, and preparing for the induction of another BBJ, GTI has received a contract for a future BBJ VIP completion.

“Essentially, the global market is comprised of economic growth in emerging markets such as the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), and the Middle East, and these are the markets from which we have the greatest demand,” states Executive Vice President, Sloan Benson. “Another factor that is advantageous for GTI is the weak dollar. That being said, the growth rate of the emerging economies seems to continue un-flagged.”
