Greenpoint Technologies Opens New Facility in Bothell, Washington

Bothell, Wash. – 21 August 2019 – Greenpoint Technologies moves corporate headquarters to Parklands North Creek in Bothell, Washington, introducing an open and collaborative office space.

Greenpoint Technologies' new Bothell headquarters features adaptable, world class workspaces with advanced technology to enhance productivity and internal communication. The 36,000 square foot facility houses the company's Design, Engineering, Program Management, Operations, Certification and Sales departments. One key feature is Greenpoint's expansive Design Center, complete with a library of material and surface selections, a design development gallery, portfolio wall and interactive space for client presentations.

"Greenpoint's new flexible, open office space is specifically designed to enhance cross-department collaboration and innovation, ultimately leading to improved service for our customers through reduced program risk and schedule," states Bret Neely, Greenpoint Executive Vice President.

Greenpoint Technologies' new corporate headquarters is less than 10 miles north of its previous facility in Kirkland, Washington.
